

RENTAL CHARGES

The Autodial can be fitted on a single exchange line or on a small private branch exchange.

It is supplied on rental terms of six shillings a quarter in respect of the 25-number model and eight shillings a quarter in respect of the 50-number model. These figures cover not only the original setting for a list of selected addresses, but also maintenance and occasional changes of number at your request.

Should you wish to consider fitting one of these instruments to your telephone line, will you please fill in the accompanying card? A representative will then call and explain in detail the instrument and its operation.

SAVES DIALLING

THE AUTODIAL

A labour-saving telephone attachment called the Autodial has been introduced by the Post Office Telephone Service. It will be useful to subscribers with dial telephones whose business or social affairs necessitate frequent calls to certain telephone numbers.

The Autodial saves trouble both in dialling and in looking up telephone numbers. You make a selection of the telephone numbers which you most frequently use. The machine is designed to enable you to obtain any one of these numbers by means of two simple movements. There is no need to remember or make note of the telephone numbers of the people on the list. Once the machine is fitted you make your call by selecting the name and depressing a lever.

The Autodial is manufactured in two sizes to provide for calling 24 or 49 subscribers. (One space is reserved for testing purposes.) The smaller model is 7" long, 4" high and 5½" wide. The larger model is 3" longer.

The face of the instrument is fitted with two cards on which will be inserted the names and numbers of subscribers you most frequently have occasion to call. Between the two cards (as shown in the illustration on the cover) runs a selector guide. The two end spaces may be reserved for the emergency services "Police" and "Fire".

To call any of the persons on the list you merely slide the selector to the name required and press down the lever. The Autodial does the rest.
